

"Cheryl and Jordana demonstrated expertise and fluency in experiential theory, hands-on initiatives, and everything in between. Their passion for experiential education and facilitation inspired every piece of the seminar and brought a positive energy to the entire weekend. I would highly recommend this training for anyone who is interested in discovering how to make learning experiences of all kinds relevant and impactful for their students or clients." -Yoni Geffen

Earn a Certificate in Experiential Facilitation and Programming Today!

Do you want your learning, training, or therapeutic environment to be more creative, practical, experiential, and exciting? Is your "bag of tricks or toolbox" falling flat with students, participants, or clients? Do you desire/need greater theoretical context to support your praxis? If so, this certificate is for you.

Creating and facilitating a "hands-on" learning environment promotes the practical application of information, tools, and skills that can last a lifetime for all learners. This certificate program provides teachers, therapists, consultants, coaches, homeschoolers, and other practitioners new and innovative facilitation and programming tools and strategies to take your practice to the next level.

Participants in this program learn experiential education theory, acquire facilitation skills, and develop specific curriculum and/or program components for immediate implementation in their everyday work. Completion of the certificate requires 40 hours of participation: 20 hour onsite training and 20 hours of mentored coaching and self-directed practicum (coaching and practicum hours must be completed within 3 months from start date to earn the full certificate).

CEUs Available Through

Western State Colorado University
